*I've been going a long time now
along the way I've learned some things.*

You have to make the good times yourself

Take the little times and make them into big times

*And save the times
that are all right
for the ones
that aren't so good.*

Rod McKuen

I think, perhaps, it was once in a dream; an old man, withered and defeated sat on a fence and watched the day go by.

Old and alone was he, — a symbol of failure and a catch-all for the sympathetic half-smiles of the passers-by journeying towards the sun.

That was years ago. Since then, I've come to realize that I am a sympathetic passer-by; suspecting the perils of the life journey that lies ahead, but knowing that he who treads a direct path towards the sun, will ultimately be smothered in the joy of its welcome embrace.

*This all leads me to believe that whatever I observed in the past; — the discontent, the striving, the reaching-out of America's young, — can only be held up as a new truth, — a new beauty, and a new beginning to look ahead to; for young America is treading directly,
and directly is a one-way avenue of hope.*

So look! See the sun. The sun is up, and it smiles. For sun is beautiful, and we are sun.

Enter children of 1952

The rough and tough, the give and take, the win and lose of athletic competition develops the limbs and strengthens the fighting Barnstable heart. As participants or spectators, we have been entwined in joyous victories and sorrowful defeats for four years. At BHS every student has the opportunity to actively participate in sports to develop a sense of fair play and good sportsmanship which are valuable assets.

Being part of a team modifies the personality of the participant. Realizing the value of team work and cooperation, as opposed to striving for individual glory is one of the many lessons of maturity which, if practiced enough, will make the road ahead smoother. A school is built mainly for the training of mental aptitudes, but a healthy, active mind needs a healthy, active body especially in the apathetic, crowded world of today.

The Class of 1970 has responded to sports—

Tense sideline players watch action at D-Y game.

Football is a test of endurance and skill. It is fought with muscle, co-ordination, and strategy. Under the watchful eyes of Head Coach Cheska and Assistant Coaches Hicks and LeBlanc, the Red Raiders played hard, with perseverance and determination. They worked together as a smoothly-functioning team and separately as skilled individuals. Although our football team came out on the bottom in some of their contests, they never gave up. Their spirit and incessant efforts to win were an asset to the entire school.

Gerry Hayes makes a perfect catch and continues down the field for a touchdown.

AGAINST OPPONENTS

WINNING BECOMES A TRADITION FOR BHS GIRLS

A squad of determined girls have held high the Barnstable name by successfully completing the 1969 season with an undefeated, untied record. Their success was due, not only to daily hours of hard practice, but also to the dedicated guidance of Miss Kay Nehubian. This year five seniors led the way to victory — the Capeway Conference Championship.

Despite several discouraging losses at the beginning of the season, the BHS soccer team showed high spirit and increasing skill. They performed their best as the season progressed and forced their opponents to fight hard for points. Only a few more yards to go!

"The best team ever," says Mr. Richard H. Norman, coach of the cross country team. This year the members of the team achieved four wins with only one loss in the Dual Meets, and they placed second in the Capeway Conference Meet. Then to finish up a great season, they took first place in Division Three at the State Meet.

Due to the hours of daily team practice at the Kennedy Memorial Skating Rink the 1970 hockey games have been excitingly played. The team has the ability and active skill to win, as shown by the loss of only two games during the season. Because of their fine goalie, Steve Babbitt, they had few goals scored against them. The team could not have had a winning season without the help of Mr. MacSwan, who has been a dedicated coach.

Over the past few years, skiing has become a major sport in New England. Because of the growing interest, a ski club has been organized at BHS. Delighted expert and novice skiers have made big plans to raise money for weekend trips to New Hampshire and Vermont. Skiing films to be shown in the auditorium and bake sales are just two of the many projects under preparation.

Due to the enthusiastic response to membership in this newly formed club, we found it impossible to list all participants.

Opponent

The girls' basketball team finished the 1969-70 season with twelve wins and six losses. Strong in moves and skilled in passing the Raiderettes were hampered only by weakness in shooting. According to Coach Nehubian the team was a strong one in which the members worked well together. The outstanding guard was Kim Farnham; the best shooter was Carol Ann Hurley. The girls can be especially proud of winning against Sandwich, the 1970 Capeway Conference Champion.

Fast Games Thrill Fans

"Steve Cornforth makes a fast break down the court and fires the ball to Ken Dorr, waiting beneath the hoop . . . and the basket is good! Fans go wild as Barnstable rolls up the score . . ."

The only word to describe the 1970 basketball season would be "Spectacular!" With superb ball-handling and precision shooting the Barnstable Red Raiders proved themselves on the court. The team ended their regular season with 15 wins and only 3 losses. The Red Raiders became the champions of the Principals' Association Tournament by downing Falmouth 56-45 in a hotly contested game. Qualifying for the Tech Tournament, Barnstable knocked off its first two opponents, Sharon 83-70 and Our Lady's of Newton 76-73, before being eliminated by Abington 64-60.

There are two common misconceptions about track. One is that winter track is just a continuation of cross-country; the other is that winter and spring track are one and the same — how untrue. Winter track is unique! The season runs from December through February including such events as dashes, distance running, high hurdles, and the shot put. Every afternoon, 40 (count 'em) boys practice the feats that won them their 5-1 record in dual meets and second place in Class C at state. Consistent top scorers are Bruce Thornton, Art Georgantas and Karl Eiler.

The defending champions of 1969 have hopes of winning another championship in the Cape-way Conference this season. With approximately 22 games ahead of them, the baseball team starts practice early in March. Although Coach Hicks of the Varsity and Coach Rose of the Junior Varsity look forward to a generally good team, they do realize that with a deficiency in the pitching and catching areas the basemen will have to work harder.

Girls on the Barnstable softball team usually enjoy a good season and 1970 should prove no exception. Coached by Miss Kay Nehubian, experienced veterans and enthusiastic newcomers to Barnstable's softball team will work hard for the championship spot.

The prospects for the 1970 Girls' Tennis Team appear bright with the return of many "pros" from last year's championship team. The team's new coach, Mrs. Feldpush, has set up a conditioning program that will benefit all the girls in their development of good tennis skills. A squad which combines accuracy and good form with speed, is sure to be near the top at the close of the season.

When at last April arrives, the Varsity Tennis team takes to the courts. A school tournament is usually set up by Coach Naylor for the purpose of selecting and ranking the fifteen-odd men who will form the first team. During the season Barnstable encounters teams from both on and off the Cape. With many veterans returning, the squad has prospects of becoming the number one team in the Southeastern Massachusetts Interscholastic Tennis League.

Santos, M. Burlingame, M. Ames, C. Eiler, P. Ryan.

The record of the 1969 spring track team will be hard to match this year; they won seven dual meets, the Capeway Conference Championship and the D Y Invitational Meet. However, the 1970 team may prove to be even more successful because of the number of veterans on the squad. A strong nucleus will be formed by Steve Cornforth in the quarter-mile, Art Georgantas in the 2-mile, Walter Martin in the long jump, Karl Eiler in the mile, Pete Ryan in the pole vault, Mark Burlingame in the hurdles, and Bob Defulgentiis in the hundred yard dash. The main weakness of the team will be a lack of weight men.

The boys' golf team completed the 1969 season with 11 wins and only 3 losses. The high point of the season was their victory at the Blue Rock Schoolboy Invitational. According to Coach Manning, the 1970 promises to be as good, if not better.

The girls' golf team has been organized to develop golf skills. They hope eventually to arrange competition, but for the present playing is simply for enjoyment.

A boy who is involved in the Student Leader Corps finds he has the opportunity to utilize his abilities in athletic skills and leadership in an instructional capacity. The advisors, Mr. Warren, Mr. Graves, and Mr. Cheska, have scheduled the program so that there are at least five leaders in each gym class. Although the prime responsibility of the leaders is to assist in the teaching of skills, they also help with officiating, intramural games. The leaders are responsible for keeping the locker room bulletin board up to date with current activities and items of local and national interest pertaining to Physical Education. Many of the student leaders go on to college, planning to major in Physical Education.

Man cannot survive alone for long; eventually, he needs someone or something to sustain him. This sustenance can be found in a multitude of ways; people can become involved in clubs, political work, or hobbies. Accomplishment—big, small, group, individual—gives one a peace of mind . . . anyone, whether they be young, old, or middle-aged.

Yesterday, today, tomorrow—
time is a real hustler.
Seasons change; years pass.
Ah yes, do you hear the sound?
Yes, time does march by.

We can't stop it,
but we can make our time
a lot better.
Think "I am," not "I was"
or "I used to be" or "I could have been."
Remember, today quickly becomes tomorrow.

Our down to earth cheerleaders, Nancy Robello, Midge Dydek, Cheryl Andrew, Lynn Nickulas, and Denise Thomas give support to Kathy Sullivan, Kathy Randall, Brenda Doherty, and Ellie Knudsen. Mary Sullivan manages to keep on top of it all.

In a huddle, the girls plan their next move.

Girls Spark Enthusiasm

Ten in number, full of energy, high in spirit, the BHS cheerleaders boost our teams on the field and in the court. With the coaching of Miss Nancy Vecchione and the leadership of their co-captains, the cheerleaders have lifted the BHS spirit to heights never seen before.

Selling red and white shakers is one of the major projects of the Pep Squad.

Nothing great was ever achieved without enthusiasm.

A visitor might wonder who sells the red and white shakers. And who are the Indians prancing about during the football game? The answer — Pep Squad members! These girls work with the cheerleaders to promote school spirit. They are responsible for selling tickets to all football games and for making posters for these games.

Slaving till dusk, snapping candid, scribbling prose paragraphs, collecting copy, racing against pending deadlines — that's what the Barnacle is made of. Frustration balanced by elation. Hours and hours of hard work — what more can be said about making a yearbook?

Editors, John Frechette, Nita Sweet, and Phil Terpos, confer over a last minute layout.

Insight is the product of the two BHS journalism classes. Students take turns at filling different staff positions. In this way, everyone learns many facets of journalism—editing, reporting, and page makeup. The result is a newspaper which helps the students to be well informed as well as entertained.

The Student Council, comprised of elected representatives from each class, is a liaison between students and administration. The major issue being handled by the Council this year is the dress code. Along with the other service groups, the Council organizes Operation Kindness. The Council gives a scholarship each year to a deserving graduate. To earn money for it, members sponsor dances, sell pastry at basketball games, and sell pens, notebooks, and bookcovers.

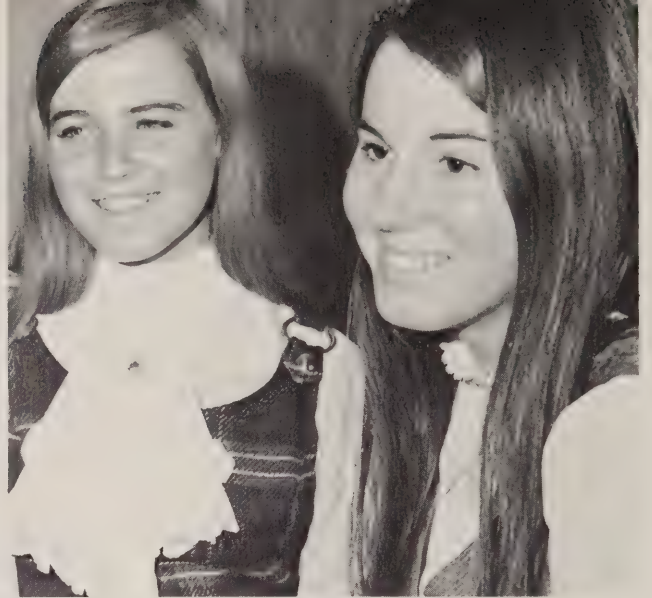

A true service organization? Interact fits the bill perfectly. This club is of service not only to the school, but also to the entire community. Its members aid the public in such diverse ways as distributing literature for the Cape Cod blood-mobile, helping at the Cape Cod Hospital, and working for conservation of the National Seashore Park. This year, Interact initiated a scholarship fund and participated in Operation Kindness.

"Coffee, milk, or coke?" might well have been this year's Code Club motto. A snackbar, the first at BHS, was started and run by club members. The highlights of the year were collecting money for the United Fund, sponsoring a convention at the Bluewater Hotel, guiding at Open House, participating in Operation Kindness, selling tickets at sports events, and serving refreshments after soccer games.

A big brother or big sister assumes the responsibility of seeing an elementary school child once a week to help him with his problems, whether they be connected with school work, social life, or home life. What the children need is companionship and understanding; they receive it from their big brother or sister. Both sides benefit from this experience — the little brothers and sisters by knowing that someone cares about them, and the big brothers and sisters by knowing that they have helped.

The Vocational School Trade Council is a student governing body which assists the director in school administration, makes recommendations concerning the school and the student body, established rules and regulations pertaining to conduct and appearance of the students. Students may take grievances to the council.

The Trade Council is also a fund raising organization which initiates the majority of the social and extra-curricular activities for the student body. Their projects include operating the concession stand at the football games, participating in the Big— Brother—Big-Sister Program and Operation Kindness, and organizing basketball games for the Harlem Diplomats. The Trade Council also sells light bulbs, Zip Code directories, and candy to raise money for their many activities.

Each year the council gives a cash award to the outstanding graduating senior student in each of the seven shop areas.

Practice, practice, and more practice results in many stellar performances. To say that the Masquers, the largest organization at BHS, have learned this fact would be an understatement. From the silent film classics, to The Rivals, to the numerous skits at rallies, the Masquers have captivated not only the student body, but the entire community as well. In addition to outstanding performances on the stage, myriad crews, such as make-up, costumes, and sets and props, are responsible for the success of the productions. In the midst of all these theatrics, the club found time to host the South-eastern Massachusetts Regional Drama Festival. But the spring musical is undoubtedly the most gratifying production of the Masquers.

M. Cataldo (President), C. Hagberg (Vice-President), L. Eiler (Recording Secretary), S. Williams (Corresponding Secretary), M. Manni (Treasurer), Mr. J. Ruberti (Advisor). Unfortunately, the Masquers membership is so huge that all of the members cannot be recognized here.

Laugh and be merry, remember the world with a song . . .

BHS boasts not one band, but two: a marching band and a concert band. The marching band exists solely to play at football games and at rallies. Naturally, the concert band performs exclusively at concerts. Many musicians play in both bands.

Batons, Indian uniforms, tasseled boots — what does one think of? Why, the majorettes, of course! Led by Jane Corliss, the girls perform at halftime during the football season. They also march in the annual Veterans' Day, Christmas, and Memorial Day parades in Hyannis.

Thirty-five boys in the chorus? At BHS? Yes, it's true! Add 115 girls, and the result is the biggest, most resounding sound ever to come from a BHS chorus. Exactly half of the chorus comprises the traveling chorus, which performs at functions not held at BHS. Members are selected by auditions.

The Stage Band (alias Hagon's Heroes) plays at school concerts. The band has performed twice at the Melody Tent — once with the Irish Rovers, and once with the New Christy Minstrels. The band's repertoire is a mixture of jazz and rock.

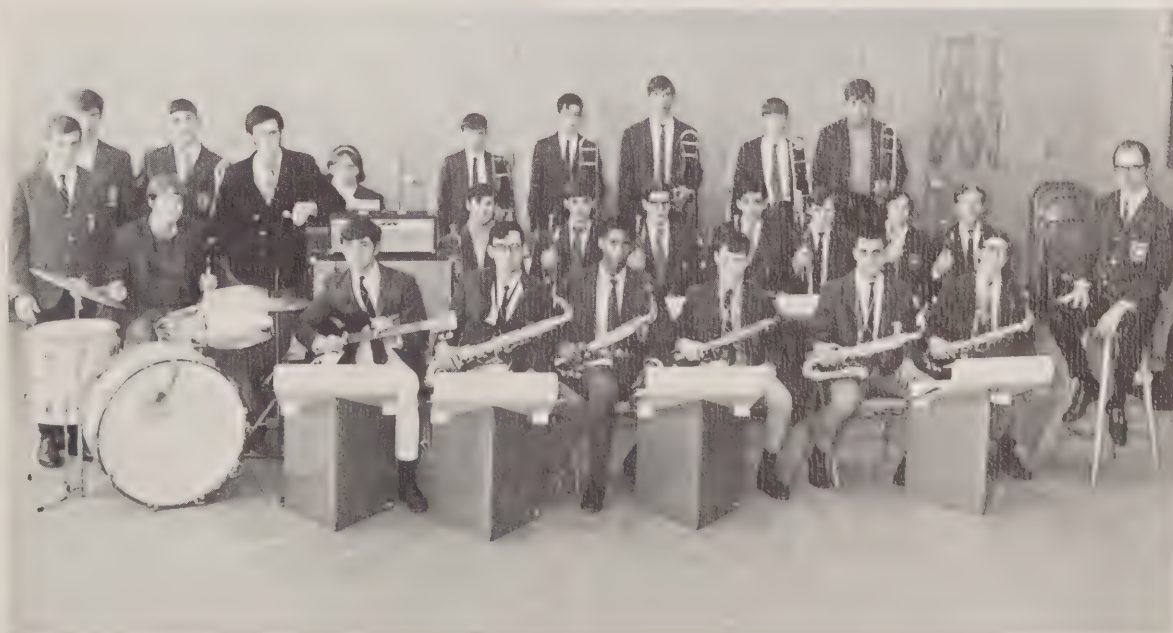

The chorus membership is so large that we can not list all of the members here.

The orchestra contains a multitude of talent. Orchestral selections are most often classical or popular. The music performed is hauntingly beautiful, intensely emotional, and certainly unique. The orchestra performs at concerts in musicals such as "Oliver!" The Music Council is an executive board composed of members of each of the music groups. The members are D. Banner, B. Colgrove, F. The Senior Index was compiled from activity forms filled out by all seniors. Some senior activities may have been omitted due to the early deadline.

The friendly atmosphere and casual daily life of Barnstable and Cape Cod will long be remembered by the graduating class of 1970. The editors of the 1970 Barnacle have tried to capture in words and pictures those memorable events, surroundings, and personalities that have made our experience at Barnstable really great. Each of us has his own particular recollection — one special friendship made solid, one favorite teacher, an anticipated social event, that last, victorious game. These memories will live on forever.

The entire staff wishes to thank all those who were connected in some way with the making of this record. Our special thanks go to the following people: Garey Scott and Mark Glista two senior artists who put more than just time into the design of the cover and the dividers, Mr. Robert Vantine of Delmar Printing Company who spent many afternoons discussing with us the best way we could produce a more memorable book, Mr. Dick Howard of Howard Studio who was "there" when we needed that certain photograph, and to Random House, Inc. for use of "Eight" from Listen to the Warm, by Rod McKuen.

We, the board of editors, now realize that all those late hours in Room 15 were well spent. We feel we have done our best, and to you the members of the Class of 1970 we dedicate this book.

Our thanks to all the businessmen in the community who generously contributed to this yearbook. They showed an interest and a desire to help us, and without their patronage this book would not have been possible.
